

Claims

- [c1] 1. An image printing system for forming images continuously on a long photosensitive material, characterized in that cutting of the photosensitive material by the unit of order is reservable.
- [c2] 2. An image printing system for forming images continuously on a long photosensitive material, comprising: inputting means for making a reservation for cutting of the photosensitive material by the unit of order; storing means for memorizing a reserved order for which the reservation for cutting has been made via the inputting means; and cutting means for cutting at a point on the photosensitive material behind a place where image formation for the reserved order is complete.
- [c3] 3. The image printing system according to Claim 2, further comprising winding means for winding the photosensitive material formed with at least an image.